ADOPTION CONTRACT AGREEMENT

Member of the Family: An indoor cat can live up to 20 years of age. Are you prepared to make a lifetime commitment to your cat? A cat is not a toy but a member of the family to be treated with love and respect. Your cat should share the house with you and not be locked in a basement, cage or another room separating the cat from the rest of the family.

Reason: A cat who is not a member of the family will not be happy and may become withdrawn, mean or destructive. You should expect some mess and inconvenience with a cat as you would with a child.

Costs of Care, Including Vet Care: A single cat will cost about $400 per year in food, litter, and basic medical care. This does not include any health-related emergencies that may arise. Your cat will need an annual checkup, including FVRCP and rabies shots. Cats are subject to common ailments that will periodically need to be treated by a vet. You are responsible for medical bills once you adopt the cat.

Reason: The FVRCP booster prevents your cat from catching distemper and other ailments (many of them fatal). Rabies shots are required by law even for indoor cats, and prevent your cat from contracting rabies and passing it on to humans should the cat come into contact with a rabid animal. Expect your cat to catch an occasional cold or ear infection. Expect medical needs to increase as your cat gets older.

Recommendation: Pet insurance has become a reasonable alternative. The annual cost typically is $200 or less to insure your new family member. Even with the deductible the cost is much easier to bear.

Giving Up Your Cat: Your cat is microchipped primarily in your name, with the Ferndale Cat Shelter as the secondary contact on record. If at any time in the future you cannot continue to provide the best care for your cat, please do not abandon, give or sell him/her to another person, company, organization, medical research, pound or animal shelter. You must contact the Ferndale Cat Shelter to do one of the following:

1. Return cat/kitten to the Ferndale Cat Shelter, whereas you agree to give FCS up to three (3) days' notice prior to returning him/her, in order for the Ferndale Cat Shelter to secure a spot for him/her.
2. Obtain approval from the FCS to transfer the ownership of the cat to a friend or relative. We must approve the new adopter who will go through the same adoption process as any new applicant.

Reason: We want our cats to be cared for all their lives. Keep your contract after adopting your cat. If you ever have to give up the cat, call us at (248) 733-3554. Do not for any reason take your cat to an animal shelter. If you have a friend or family member who wants to adopt your cat, please notify us so we can process their application so as to have their information on file.

Children: If you have a child under six (6) years of age, we recommend that you adopt a cat or kitten who is six (6) months, or older.

Reason: Younger kittens are more fragile and can be accidentally injured by a small child. Also, young kittens have not learned yet to retract their claws. While a scratch is typically no more harmful than falling down on a playground and scraping a knee, young children who are scratched may develop an unnecessary fear of a kitten after being scratched. And, the kitten, in turn, may become fearful of a child who cries after being scratched. Children and pets make wonderful companions for one another when supervised and matched up appropriately.

Single Cat: It is strongly recommended that kittens under 10 months of age be adopted in pairs unless there is a young cat already in the home.

Reason: A kitten by itself will get lonely and may become depressed and/or destructive. Kittens and young cats need feline companionship to live happily with their humans.

Indoor Cats: You must keep the cat indoors at all times unless the cat is on a leash, accompanied by you, and equipped with proper identification.

Reason: The average life span of a cat is 15-20 years when kept indoors and given proper care. The average life span of a cat who wanders outside is two years. Cats are killed and injured by cars every day on neighborhood streets as well as major roads. Other dangers include contracting diseases from other cats, getting hurt in fights with other animals, and being poisoned or abused by people who find it annoying for cats to wander onto their property.

Declawing: Our cats may not be declawed. If you would like to adopt a declawed cat please ask if we have options for an adoptable, declawed cat, in our care.

Reason: Declawing is cruel, physically and psychologically, and completely unnecessary. A cat's claws function as part of its fingers and toes, therefore declawing amputates the last joint of a cat's toes. The surgery and recovery is extremely painful. Declawing impedes a cat's ability to walk and play as well as protect and groom themselves. Psychologically, cats need to claw as part of their grooming ritual and many cats knead with their claws to express comfort. Declawed cats tend to have higher levels of anxiety because they feel defenseless and often become biters. They also tend to react to stress by acting out such as by not using their litter boxes. Frequent clipping of the tip of the claw can help alleviate damage due to scratching. A volunteer or your vet can show you how to properly clip claws. Give your cat plenty of appropriate things to scratch and gently correct your cat if it scratches the wrong things. A little patience, positive reinforcement, and consistency in training alleviate the vast majority of scratching problems.

Home Visit: We conduct a pre-adoption home visit to ensure the compatibility of the potential adoptee(s) with your family members, home environment, and safety of your home. At that time we will address questions which arise relating to the care and adoption of the cat(s)/kitten(s). Shortly after the adoption is complete, we will check in with you to be sure the transition is going well for both the adoptee(s) and their family.

Reason: Our goal is to place our cats in loving, forever homes. The vast majority of people provide excellent homes for their pets, however, there are instances where a suitable home or proper care is not given to the cat(s)/kitten(s). Also it is possible for unforeseen personality conflicts to arise between cats and humans. It may take time for the cat(s)/kitten(s) to warm up to the humans, but if no resolve is made after two (2) weeks, it's best to return the cat and discuss the possibility of adopting another cat.

Please feel free to contact The Ferndale Cat Shelter at (248) 733-3554 or email admin@ferndalecatshelter.org with any questions or concerns.
